

HUGH SMALL

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

AVENGING ANGEL

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE
AVENGING ANGEL

Hugh Small

Constable · London

Florence Nightingale achieved fame for her work with the wounded of British nurses during the Crimean War. After the war, she continued to promote public health and was one of history's most famous women. Her collapse at the age of 55 was due to her bedridden for 18 months.

By carefully re-examining the events that led to the Crimean War, Small has produced a new explanation of Florence Nightingale's actions. After describing the upbringing of the author, the book shows how the conflicting circumstances really happened in Scutari, near Constantinople. By tracing the information in the book, it shows that there was a public health disaster, research by army doctors, the cover-up involved in Queen Victoria's Government over the Crimean War. The book sheds light on the development of the nursing profession and also shows how a subsequently created Florence Nightingale, which contributed to the

A revealing study of the achievements of Florence Nightingale.

First published in Great Britain 1998
by Constable and Company Limited
3 The Lanchesters, 162 Fulham Palace Road
London W6 9ER
Copyright © Hugh Small 1998
ISBN 0 09 479010 8

The right of Hugh Small to be identified as the author of this work has been asserted by him in accordance with the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988

Set in Monotype Garamond 12pt by Servis Filmsetting Ltd, Manchester
Printed in Great Britain by
St. Edmundsbury Press Ltd
Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk

A CIP catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library

To my wife

NORMA