To Mrs Finck

This Christmas time in many lands, Pacific slopes and Eastern Strands Peace upon earth, good will to men, Ring out the chimes. And once again Old friends and new, in greetings fair
With one accord your word declare:
Your native grace such warmth imparts,
They call you still the ace of hearts.
Ruth Clements with Christmas greetings: 1914.

To my Dear Friend,
 Mrs. H. H. Frick Philadelphia 1912
 Nov. 25.

But for the friendships of life the world would be a barren waste.
 These congenial associations are the flowers spread along our path.
 They gladden us on our journey, inspire ^{us} to good deeds, to join hands to strengthen our life work, that this interchange of life and thought may make the world happier and better Selva A. Lockwood,
