Under the Wattle

Why should not wattle do
For mistletoe?

Asked one — they were but two
Where wattles grow.

He was her lover, too,
Who urged her so —
"Why should not wattle do
For mistletoe?"

A rose-cheek rosier grew;
Rose-lips breathed love
"Since it is here, and you,
I hardly know
Why Wattle should not do"

The Sandal Tree

When on the fragrant-sandal tree
The woodman's axe descends,
And she who flows so feantly
Beneath the keen stroke bends,
Dying, she breathes her sweetest breath
E'en on the edge that caused her death
As if to token in her fall, peace to her
Woes and love to all.
How hardly man the lesson learns
To smile, and bless the hand that spurns,
To hear the blow, and feel the pain,
And render only love again.
That spirit - not to man is given
He had it; but - He came from Heaven
"Reviled", "Rejected", and "Betrayed"
No curse he breathed, no plaint he made
But when in death's sharp pang
He sighed, Prayed for his
Murderers and died

Come down, O maid, from yonder mountain height:
What pleasure lives in height (the shepherd sang)
In height and cold, the splendour of the hills?
But cease to move so near the Heavens, and cease
To glide a sunbeam by the blasted Pine,
To sit a star upon the sparkling spire;
And come, for Love is of the valley, come,
For Love is of the valley, come thou down
And find him. — Jemmyson —

A sad Case

We three went forth on holiday
To Stonsey stern and wild,
And there we met the fairest maids
That ever man beguiled.

Around that bold and rocky coast
Where Nature's works are grand,
We got such sport as never yet
Came to the ready hand.

Quick to the Stalker ever rose
The birds that Sportsmen love,
And ever the Plover spread its wing
To the blue tent above.

But in our quieter hours! Ah then,
Our hearts were drawn away!
And what shall fill the aching void
That's with us all today?

A few lines written on board
'St. Ninian' after leaving Stonsey.

It is not always May

The sun is bright, the air is clear,
The darling swallows soar and sing,
And from the stately elms I hear
The blue bird prophesying Spring.

All things rejoice in youth and love
The fulness of their first delight
And learn from the soft heavens above
The melting tenderness of night.

Maiden, that read'st this simple rhyme
Enjoy thy youth, it will not stay;
Enjoy the fragrance of thy prime.

Old Friends

There are no friends like old friends,

And none so good and true.

We greet them when we meet them

As roses greet the dew.

No other friends are dearer,

Though born of kindred mould,

And while we prize the new ones,

We treasure more the old.

Now ladies, pray you listen to me
Dicky-birds in their nests agree.
If they can do so, do so too.
What has it, pray, to do with you?
Dicky-birds don't, to gain their ends
Depreciate their absent friends
Dicky-birds don't, whatever they hear
Forget that they are ladies dear!
Dicky-birds tweetle, tweetle, tweet
Which may be silly & does seem weak

Not Original.

That man must lead a happy life
Who is directed by a wife.
Who's freed from matrimonial chains
Is sure to suffer for his pains.

Adam could find no solid peace
Till he beheld a woman's face;
When Eve was given him for a mate,
Adam was in a happy state.

In all the female race appear
Truth, darling of a heart sincere;
Hypocrisy, deceit, and pride,
In woman never did reside.

What tongue is able to unfold
The worth in woman we behold?
The failings that in woman dwell
Are almost imperceptible.

Confusion take the men, I say,
Who no regard to woman pay;
Who make the women their delight
Keep always reason in their sight.

Please first read the above lines as they are written, - thereafter read the first the second and fourth lines of each verse! -
